Finn and Mona form a close bond, and Finn begins to open up to her about his grief and his fears. Mona helps Finn to see that he is not alone, and that there are people who care about him. However, Finn's friends and family are concerned about his relationship with Mona, and they worry that he is becoming too attached to her.

As Finn and Mona's relationship deepens, they begin to investigate the circumstances surrounding Mona's death. They soon discover that there is more to her story than meets the eye, and that she may have been murdered. Finn and Mona must race against time to find out the truth about Mona's death, and to bring her killer to justice.
