In the bustling heart of Times Square, the city's heartbeat throbs:

Neon lights ablaze,

A symphony of colors,

City's vibrant soul.

Ascend the Empire State Building, and the city unfurls beneath:

From towering heights,

*A tapestry of rooftops,
City's boundless sprawl.*

Stroll through Central Park, an oasis amidst the urban sprawl:

*Amidst towering trees,
Nature's sanctuary blooms,
respite in the heart.*

Peer into the windows of brownstone homes in Greenwich Village:

*In cozy abodes,
Stories unfold, unseen,
City's hidden lives.*

Journey to the vibrant streets of Chinatown:

*Aromatic scents,
Lanterns glow, dragons dance,
East meets vibrant West.*

Witness the city's resilience in the aftermath of a storm:

*Bruised but unbowed,
City rises, stronger still,
Resilient spirit.*

With a foreword by celebrated poet Billy Collins, 'Haikus for New York City' is more than just a collection of poems; it's an invitation to experience the city through a poetic lens.

Whether you're a lifelong New Yorker or a visitor enchanted by the city's allure, these haikus will resonate with you. They capture the city's beauty, its complexities, and its indomitable spirit.

'Haikus for New York City' is a literary gift, a love letter to the city that never sleeps. It's a book you'll return to again and again, finding new insights and appreciation for this extraordinary city each time you do.
